

The Scholarly Commons is nearing 1,000,000 downloads!

Scholars from all over the world are discovering our faculty scholarship. There are currently 3,356 total papers in the repository (<http://scholars.law.unlv.edu/>). Full text downloads have reached 949,901, over 200,000 from the last year alone. Please contact Research Librarian Liz Manriquez if you have a paper you would like added to the Scholarly Commons (elizabeth.manriquez@unlv.edu).

Ex Libris's Primo™ is coming to the Library

The Library has been working very hard on our upcoming migration to Primo™. Primo™ is a new search mechanism for books, articles and other library materials. Primo™ is an interface that allows users to search both the library catalog and library databases simultaneously. By enhancing the discoverability of our library resources, the migration to Primo™ will benefit students and faculty alike, saving time and aiding scholarship. Watch out for our new look this December.
