Volume 2014, Issue 1

Society of American Law Teachers

May 2014

In This Issue

This issue of the SALT Equalizer contains the 2013–14 SALT salary survey results. Information for Regions III–VII continues on pages 2 and 3.

Survey Information and Methodology

SALT is delighted to present the 2013–14 SALT Salary Survey, our annual survey of academic year law faculty salaries. The survey, conducted by Eric Janus, President and Dean of the William Mitchell College of Law, reports the median base salaries for three faculty ranks — assistant professor, pre-tenure associate professor, and tenured professor (both associate and full) — and median summer stipends in alphabetical order by school, in seven regions. Of the 200 surveyed schools in the U.S. and Puerto Rico, SALT received information for academic year 2013–14 from 56 (28%). Another 18 (9%) of the surveyed schools reported information for last year's survey (academic year 2012–13), but did not update their information for academic year 2013–14; for those 18 schools, we have reported last year's data, with a note indicating that the information is for last year. 126 schools (63%) did not participate last year and this year.

The survey questionnaire, which is reproduced in full on page 4 of this issue, requested base salary medians for each of the three faculty ranks. Schools were instructed not to include in the base salary medians any fringe benefits (e.g., health care benefits, retirement benefits, dependents' tuition benefits, domestic partner benefits, travel funding, book allowance, research assistant funding, or summer research and teaching stipends), and to report on the salaries only of tenure-track professors, not of deans or administrators. Summer stipend information was requested separately, as a single median for all faculty ranks.

The survey questionnaire was initially emailed in January 2014 to the office of the dean at each of the 200 law schools, with a request that the school reply by February 28, 2014. If the school failed to reply to the initial email, Dean Janus's office followed up with reminder emails, and, if the reminder emails also failed to elicit a response, with telephone calls.

Although SALT does not survey schools for information on the salaries of non-tenure-track legal writing faculty, the Association of Legal Writing Directors (ALWD) and the Legal Writing Institute (LWI) jointly sponsor an annual national survey of legal writing programs at approximately 140 law schools. That data can be found on the LWI website at <http://www.lwionline.org/surveys.html>.

The American Association of Law Libraries (AALL) collects data on law librarian salaries. AALL members may access the survey results online, at no charge, at http://www.aallnet.org/products/pub_salary_survey.asp. Non-members may purchase a hard copy version from the same website.

The Center for the Study of Applied Legal Education has collected salary and compensation data for clinicians, available by emailing administrator@csale.org.

We thank all of the schools that participated in this year's SALT Salary Survey.

About SALT and SALT Membership

Since 1973, the Society of American Law Teachers (SALT) has been an independent organization of law teachers, law deans, law librarians, and other legal educational professionals working to enhance the quality of legal education, make the legal profession more inclusive, and extend legal representation to under-served individuals and communities. SALT has been at the forefront of national debates about legal education and legal institutions. SALT challenges faculty, staff, and students to promote the profession's core values of equality and justice, and to oppose illegal and inequitable practices.

Although this salary survey will be made available to many non-members of SALT, regular updates such as this one from SALT are e-mailed directly to members. In addition to regular email updates, SALT members receive reduced rates at SALT conferences, are represented nationally on issues affecting legal education, and enjoy the opportunity to join with hundreds of colleagues across the nation who are committed to progressive values in legal education. You can learn more about SALT and SALT membership at www.saltlaw.org. If you have questions, concerns, or suggestions, please contact SALT's co-presidents, Olympia Duhart and Ruben Garcia, at info@saltlaw.org.

Please join SALT or renew your SALT membership by registering online at www.saltlaw.org/memberships. Our regular membership levels are tied to position within the legal academy. SALT membership is on an academic year basis; membership runs through August 31 of each calendar year.

For the 2014-15 academic year, our regular membership levels will be as follows:

- Fellows and visiting assistant professors: $55 per year
- Adjunct faculty and retired teachers: $75 per year
- Non-tenure track faculty, librarians, academic support, and staff: $100 per year
- Tenure track faculty: $125 per year
- Tenured faculty and senior administrative personnel: $150 per year
- Lifetime membership for those retiring from the academy: $1,200 one-time

We also offer affiliate membership to those not working in the legal academy – law firms, law students, lawyers, accredited legal services workers, law office support staff, and members of the public. For the 2014-15 academic year, our affiliate membership levels will be as follows:

- Law students: $35 per year
- Other individuals: $75 per year
- Non-profit entities: $150 per year
- Other entities: $250 per year
