From Dan

Dan Stansberry, Associate Professor of Law

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT: Markets Trindle

Market's work involves the intersection of markets and behavior. He has participated in several programs to promote understanding of behavior at the University of New Mexico, focusing on the impact of behavior on economic outcomes. He has also been a member of the editorial board of the journal Behavior and Economic Policy for the past five years.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT: Tascha Schwett

Tascha is a student at the University of New Mexico, majoring in Business Administration and minoring in Economics. She is currently serving as the treasurer of the Business Law Society and a member of the Student Government Association. She enjoys volunteering at local community centers, where she helps with various activities such as tutoring, mentoring, and organizing events.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT: Maren Perry '90

Maren is currently working as a legal advisor for a major corporation in London. She received her J.D. from the University of New Mexico in 1990, where she was actively involved in student organizations and participated in various legal advocacy projects. She has since worked for several law firms and government agencies, gaining valuable experience in corporate law, human rights, and international law.

Dan Stansberry, Associate Professor of Law

UNLV LAW

Dan Stansberry, Associate Professor of Law

FACULTY SPOTLIGHT: Markets Trindle

Market's work involves the intersection of markets and behavior. He has participated in several programs to promote understanding of behavior at the University of New Mexico, focusing on the impact of behavior on economic outcomes. He has also been a member of the editorial board of the journal Behavior and Economic Policy for the past five years.

STUDENT SPOTLIGHT: Tascha Schwett

Tascha is a student at the University of New Mexico, majoring in Business Administration and minoring in Economics. She is currently serving as the treasurer of the Business Law Society and a member of the Student Government Association. She enjoys volunteering at local community centers, where she helps with various activities such as tutoring, mentoring, and organizing events.

ALUMNI SPOTLIGHT: Maren Perry '90

Maren is currently working as a legal advisor for a major corporation in London. She received her J.D. from the University of New Mexico in 1990, where she was actively involved in student organizations and participated in various legal advocacy projects. She has since worked for several law firms and government agencies, gaining valuable experience in corporate law, human rights, and international law.

Dan Stansberry, Associate Professor of Law